

Re: Jennifer Plaza

As a professor here at Full Sail University, I work closely with fellow instructors and students as they near the completion of our program. My courses involve projects that require students to demonstrate skills and ongoing learning towards topic matter covered throughout the degree. During this process I get to know our soon-to-be alumni first hand.

In regard to Jennifer Plaza, I would like to point out a few things that stood out to me while she worked on assigned material. First, she was great at communicating ongoing progress using a variety of tools like GitHub with code iteration and ongoing report outs. She provided helpful feedback to fellow classmates and took the time to make suggestions that can improve on overall project work we analyzed and worked on together. Her insight and contribution helped me personally because she was open to ideas and quick to share her experience. This openness on her part is helpful in my opinion. I say this because any team looking to elevate their work would clearly benefit from Jennifer's ability to contribute in a positive manner.

I wish Jennifer all the best in her endeavors. She has my strong recommendation as someone that can add value to any team. In my opinion she can easily fill the role that calls for someone who has a love for learning, growing, and sharing along the way.

Feel free to contact me directly if you would to discuss any of this further. I can be reached at the contact information listed below.
